

	REPORT SHEET ON PILOT ACTIVITIES
FIELD THEME
Talking about social exclusion
PLACE, DATE, TIME OF SESSION
Gdynia, UM WIS: 21.11.2014, 11:30 - 13:30
TARGET GROUP, NUMBER OF PARTICIPANTS
Senior citizens - 8 participants Adult trainers – 2 participants (WIS, GCPU)
OBJECTIVE OF THE SESSION (WHAT DID WE WANT TO ACHIEVE)
(1) Testing out good practices; (2) Train trainers; (3) Talk about social exclusion
METHODS USED (ILLUSTRATE WITH IMAGES WHEN POSSIBLE)
Tat good practice; Who are you until now good practice; C2C good practice.
REACTIONS - OBSERVATIONS - EVALUATIONS: WHAT ADVANTAGES AND RISKS OF THE METHOD HAVE WE FOUND?
A group of fresh senior citizens (65-70 years) started off with talking about how they were happy to have so much new free time. But from the beginning an undertone of fear of loneliness could be discovered.  The Who are you good practice delivered no surprises. The mold of the first participant was followed.  The Tat good pactice met with a discussion. The participants were eager to rephrase the sentences in their own way.

The C2C good practice was impressive. All participants opened up beautifully in the dialogue. They talked about extremely private situations – something that is very uncommon in Poland – listened intently and engaged in a common searching for openings in the dilemmas that were presented – f.i. a woman talked about her neighbors. The daughter of the house there was engaged to a foreign man. Her mother did not agree and ignored the fiancé. The neighbor participant thought this was a terrible and a big mistake and wondered how she could engage her neighbor in a conversation on this.

The self-reporting on especially the C2C good practice was very positive.

ANY FURTHER OBSERVATIONS